Boston. June 2nd, 1831.–

My dear Sir

Art. 1. of the Rules of the Maſsachusetts Convention of Congregational Ministers is as follows. "Every ordained Congregational Minister, having the charge of a particular church within this Commonwealth, shall be considered a member of the Convention. The President, & the Profeſsors in the theological departments, in any public seminary in this Commonwealth, may be admitted by special vote; & no others shall be eligible."

I have the pleasure of informing you that, in conformity with this rule, "Mr. Edward Robinson, Profeſsor Extraordinary of Biblical Literature in the Theological Seminary at Andover, was admitted a member of the Convention" at its late meeting. The vote was a unanimous one.

Very respectfully yours.
